

Kinnikinnick

A trailing, evergreen shrub (A low growing, usually less than 15 feet, woody perennial plant without a central stem. Shrub with paddle-shaped leaves on long, flexible branches. Nodding clusters of tiny, bell-shaped, pinkish-white flowers give way to bright red berries that can persist until winter. This ground cover is suitable for landscaping rocky or sandy sites and can be kept pruned to fit smaller landscapes.

Botanical name

Arctostaphylos uva-ursi

Kinnikinnick

Stock category

Shrubs

Stock subcategory

Native

Xeriscape

Characteristics
Average height
6 ft
Average width
5 ft
Bloom colour

Pink

Bloom months

May

June

Foliage colour

Green

Soil needs

Well draining, rocky, sandy.

Sun zone

Full sun

Water zone

Low water